The Unwritten Rules of Your First Job

You've learned the technical skills. Now learn what it takes to succeed in the workplace. Join us for an interactive panel discussion on the things you don't always learn in class—but employers notice.

We'll talk about:

Professionalism & workplace expectations
Taking ownership and showing initiative
What to do when you have downtime
Building relationships with coworkers and supervisors
Making a strong impression as an intern or new employee
What employers really expect from early-career professionals
Practical advice you can use from day one.
